

Science and Scientists Informing Public Policy in California

A Professional Development Workshop
Hosted by Capital Science Communicators and the UC Davis Superfund Research Program

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 24th, 2016

3:00 p.m. to 4:30 p.m.

UC Davis Student Community Center, Room D

Networking Reception to Follow

5:00 p.m. to 7:00 p.m.

de Vere's Irish Pub, 217 E Street, Davis

Are you a student, postdoc, or faculty researcher curious about how science informs policy in the Golden State? We invite you to a lively panel discussion with staff members and consultants from the California State Legislature specializing in policies relating to health, environmental safety, natural resources, and other topics. Our panelists will share their experiences and tips on how scientists can better communicate their research—and make broader impact for public good.

CAPITAL
SCIENCE
COMMUNICATORS

More Info: facebook.com/capscicomm • Questions: Candace Bever, crspier@ucdavis.edu